

To Be A Mighty Team

It takes a team to make it go,
Though some ships creak and groan;
Without a team to make it go,
It must remain at home.

In this team they call a crew,
Leaving family, friends and tears;
In ships of old and ships anew,
These crews sail on for years.

The crewmen have their jobs to do,
Both on and off the sea;
To make a more efficient crew,
It takes both you and me.

We train in every specialty,
To meet the growing need;
For if it works out right, you see,
Our teamwork will succeed.

If teamwork draws a growing crowd,
To work as one, I mean;
We work real hard and say we're proud,
To be a mighty team.

We came from east and came from west,
With north and south unbarred;
To do the job that we know best,
The United States Coast Guard.
