

"From the reception former ships have met with here, I doubt not but that we should be well received."

