

DEPARTURE

For Doug Sonneborn, leaving Seattle was a little bit harder than for some single men on board . . . but, even for those who had no one on the pier to see them off, there was sadness as well as anticipation for the adventure ahead.

