

Throughout the summer SOUTH-WIND was called upon to tow other vessels. Before the first real escort through the ice the two icebreakers practiced pulling one another in anticipation of what was to come.

