

The small boats were always in operation. It was attempted to moor AMERICAN EXPLORER close to the beach (below, left), but the ice conditions were prohibitive. SOUTH WIND moored to a small island (right and below, right) to discharge the fuel it had brought.

