

lorenco marques, mozambique

Lorenco Marques: Portuguese East African colony and SOUTHWIND's last port of call on her long world voyage, was quite a change from Tanzania, and, a city for maximum liberty. Three momentous days and nights at her docks provided both SOUTHWIND'S crew and Mozambique's population with strange and new sights.

There must be some way out of here

Yes, it's a real steam engine

