

HAWAII IN THE RAIN

Aloha!

While some of the SPENCER crew engaged in swimming, surfing, and girl watching at Waikiki Beach, others ventured out to the rugged and primeval windward side of the island where the surf dwarfs that at Waikiki. History enthusiasts visited the USS Arizona Memorial in Pearl Harbor and the Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific in the Punch Bowl Crater. After five days of liberty, repairs, fueling, and provisioning, the SPENCER turned her bow westward to keep a date with a fearful denizen of the deep . . . one who rules the 180th meridian, Pollywogs Beware . . .

Arizona Memorial

Welcoming Committee

Fun at Waikiki

Diamondhead from Punch Bowl

The Windward Side